Dedication

We, the senior class of Tenney High School, the first class to cómplete four years at this modern institution of learning, dedicate this yearbook to Tenney High School.

Foreword

During our four years in high school, many memorable events happen that cannot be captured in words or pictures. Of these the most significant occur during the senior year. Our yearbook is an attempt to permanently record these moments. The staff and I extend our sincere thanks to you for your cooperation, courtesy, and assistance in producing this book.

Ray Nazarian leaves the "Nuzzie beat" and one king-size bottle of "Nazarian Grease."

We, Anne Hiller, Marie Drouin, Sandra Newsum, and Anne Marie Gosselin, the Troublemakers of 1957, wish to leave lots of trouble to Mr. Kennedy.

Ken Deming leaves his job of growling as the lion in Metro Goldwyn Mayer.

I, Tony Qualters, leave my center seat in Miss Lange's room to a deserving junior boy with these qualifications: good looking, extremely humorous, and an all around great guy — my greatest assets.

I, Frank Bonanno, leave to Mr. Russell two more bananas, Ray and Bill.

I, Carol White, leave to Mary Ann Ampalone two elastic bands to hold up her socks.

I, Bob Hennessy, leave to my brother a bushel of onions which I wish someone had bequeathed to me, in order to keep all the girls away.

I, Ray Wilson, leave to a stubby-fingered junior the privilege of writing out chapters in physics class.

Frank Salzano leaves his hanging curl of hair, which he claims was blown that way by the wind.

I, Barbara Barnat, leave my title of "Spare" in Mr. Kennedy's Problems of Democracy class to any junior who is smart enough to drop the course.

I, Dottie Reinhold, leave to my brother, Butch, an unbreakable plastic milk bottle to insure him against embarrassment if he should drop it in the cafeteria!

I, Shirley Champey, leave one carload of "Pandy's Handy Dandy" plant food for Miss Smith's and Mr. Hannigan's geraniums.

I, Joe Grasso, leave to Charles Hamblet a pair of roller skates to get to lunch, and a sore back to get out of wrestling in gym.

I, Joan Enus, leave to my sister, Carol, my talent for smuggling sandwiches, eggs, and ice cream out of the cafeteria.

I, Gene Tillberg, leave to any underclassman who likes to eat, my enormous appetite for sandwiches, eggs, and ice cream which have been smuggled out of the cafeteria.

I, Shirley Trussell, leave to Pat Mahoney my ever ready excuses to Miss Allen for being late.

I, Bill Johnson, leave to a fun-loving junior my pin-up books.

I, Danny Perry, leave Mr. Lister's bermudas and knee socks to next year's best dressed boy.

I, Jim Stundze, being of sound mind and body, leave to Mr. Paul H. Leslie one of my old hammers and a keg of rusty nails.

I, Allen Gebo, leave my puppet strings to poor Bob Tetler.

I, Carolyn Vose, do hereby leave Cliff Haller — but not for long!

I, Janet Elliott, leave my accidents to a future student driver.

Dave Dechane leaves his feet hanging out in the aisle.

I, Greg Johnson, leave to Stan Puzniak my gym towel, which if not held down will run away.

I, Milton Holland, leave to next year's senior class, Jack Hughes.

I, Bill Agnew, leave the odds and ends that were left after cleaning my locker — a pair of dice, one red leaf. one stopper from a bottle of Wildroot Hair Tonic, one apple core, two cigar bands. and the hole from a doughnut.

I, Peg Sigmon, leave to my cousins, Barbara Lawrie and Dotty Riley, Mr. Hannigan's recipe for Chinese Chews and his undisputed ability to make bread.

I, Art Pringle, leave to Dick Lynch a pane of glass for the gym storage room to replace the one which was broken during basketball practice.

Frank Salzano, Dave Brown, Don Clark, Ken Deming, Bob Oldfield, Ray Nazarian, Bill Paquin, Tony Qualters, Eddie Barr, and Roy Bistany, the 1957 chapter of the "1:47" club, leave our tear-streaked membership cards to those underclassmen who are unfortunate enough to qualify.

I, Bernie Valcourt, leave to John Braciska and Cliff Haller a large handkerchief and a pair of ear plugs.

I, Ned Catalano, leave my football uniform to Harold Duffen.

I, Robert Bennett, leave to Mr. Kennedy a rope to tie some restless problem children in their seats.

We, Gloria Beernaert and Bob Agnew, leave quietly to be alone.

I, Fred Ferlito, leave to all owners of cars with faulty mufflers a map of convenient hiding places to be used when they are told by a little bird that the Registry is coming.

I, Jim Cote, leave the little bird.

I, Norma Merrow, leave to my sister, Diane, all my unacquired knowledge.

I, Marie Calobrisi, leave to Mr. MacDonald the peels from the orange I ate at rehearsal.

John Murphy leaves all the dust that accumulated on his seat while he was absent.

We, the class of 1957, leave our voices echoing in the corridors of Tenney High School.

Class Prophecy

The time is September, 1977. The place, New York. The occasion, the East Coast Medical Convention.

The registration of delegates is now taking place. As I approached the registration desk, I noticed a familiar face. It was my former classmate, Jim Kachadorian.

Betty: Hi, Jim! What brings you here?

Jim: My company has charge of the sound and lighting for the entire convention. We are working in connection with such electrical engineers as Roy Bistany, David Brown, Tony DeFruscio, and George Driscoll. Say, B. J., how did you get here?

Betty: I came by Hosterman Airlines from Florida, where I spent the summer. The pilot was our classmate, Ronald Gilchrist, and the mechanic was Lawrence Dubois. Barbara Brainard and Cynthia Bodenrader were hostesses on the plane. Also working for the same company were Lillian Anderson, Pat DelDuca, and Lois Waites. I hear that the first demonstration on the program will be presented by a group from Lawrence General Hospital under the supervision of Marie Drouin, M.D. The nurses included Click Hoffman, Marie Calobrisi, Judy Hosterman, Mary Athayde, and June Bettencourt. The technical advice on the medicines used was supplied by the well-known pharmacist, Ed Koscielniak.

Jim: We ran into some difficulties with the law. We had the famous auto racer, Milton Holland, race the best lawyer we could find here, Tony Qualters.

Betty: Recording notes for the convention are secretaries Diana LaRosa, Barbara Kilcoyne, Janice Morris, Mary Boyd, Rosemary Rumore, Carol Bechard, and Marilyn Ball.

Jim: Did you happen to the parade before the convention? It was led by Commodore Kuzmitski followed by James Massey and Bob McRobbie, who acted as color guards. Marching for the Navy were Bob Bennett, Bruno Ruhman, Sam Amanation, and Dick Bouchard. Did you see the Air Force plane that landed in Times Square? It was piloted by Chuck Donahue and Ronald Popielarski. Bill Agnew, Alby Lerned, Art Ward, John Sheehan, and John Paris were aboard. The incident created a minor disturbance.

Betty: I arrived here a day early and dropped in Vin's Beauty Shop. Joseph Vinciqueria, the owner, was assisted by Barbara Boutin, Mary Ann Pelczar, Elaine Iannalfo, and Jean Fortin. While I was there, I met three happily married people, our former classmates, Pat Swan, Norma Merrow, and Ann Middlemiss.

Jim: I saw the first section of the Convention Report. Ronald Penczak, who has charge of the photography, is working in connection with the models, Ruth Lawrence and Charlene Thwaites. Carolyn Vose and Carole Licata are supervising the art work for the report. I understand that we will have some invited guests at tomorrow's session of the convention. Among them are the scientists, Anne Hiller, Allen Fay, and Joseph McClintock; the professional ice skater, Janice Downey; and the famous play director, Margaret Hausler, who will be accompanied by the actor, Bill DePardo. Well, I'm afraid I'll have to run along. See you tomorrow, B. J.

SECOND DAY

Betty: Good morning. Jim. How are you this morning? Yesterday on my way to the hotel I met Paul Sparta. Remember him? His only ambition was "to get out of school." He asked me if I had seen his brother's sports car and. without thinking, I said. "No." I no sooner had the answer out of my mouth when he told me to be ready at eight this morning. I was supposedly in for a treat. I'm afraid his idea of a treat is not at all like mine! Well, I was ready when Sam called for me in his Austin Healy. On the way. he mentioned that he had recently seen our former classmate, Joe Grasso, now a famous jockey. We stopped at the gas station proprieted by Bob Pappalardo. The mechanics working for him were Bob Agnew and Jack Lawrence. Later we passed Dave Dechane's Electric Appliance Business. When we arrived in the business district, Sam pointed out a large business run by Frank Bonanno. The Salco Drug Store, in the same district. was run by the prominent pharmacists, Joan Bosco and Frank Salzano. By the way. I arrived here in one piece.

Jim: B. J., did you notice the program for this morning? It's called "Health and Safety" under the supervision of the teachers. Judy Allen, Pat Dowd, Betty Puzniak, Anne Marie Gosselin. and, oh. yes. Bill Lacouter — another Mr. Kennedy. James Cote, currently doing fine radio work, has charge of the narration. I understand that the fireman, Harold Kay, is supervising the safety division of the program. Also working on this project are the dental workers, Sandra Slovin and Shirley Wegehenkel. The famous dieticians. Joan Vallario and Linda Hoehn will be speaking on proper school meals.

Betty: Carmelo Marchese, a prominent official in the Jordan Marsh Company, has become president and renamed the business "Jordan Marchese Company." Working for the new company are the secretaries, Lorraine Lamontagne, Jean MacLauchlin, Harriet Najuch. Dot Parenti, Dot Reinhold. Barbara Rhodes, Janet Serwin, Jean Tosta, and Peg Sigmon. and the telephone operators, Peggy Jean, Sally Sugden, and Germaine Martin.

Jim: I talked with Bill McGovern, Bob Hennessy, Bernie Valcourt, and their coach, Dan Perry. They have a basketball game scheduled for this evening. I seems Bill McGovern, the center. is trying to keep up with Bernie — a pretty difficult proposition.

Betty: The schedule for this afternoon includes an entertainment. Barbara DeSilva, first on the program. is going to do her best to "sing like Ella." Also taking part will be the musician, Ray Contorelli. The main feature of the program will be the amazing impersonations by the one and only, Barbara Barnat. Better not miss that, Jim.

Jim: Did you notice the new engineering concern on the way up? I went in to look around just out of curiosity. In charge of the plant was Bill Greska. Some of the engineers there were Ken Deming, Bob Tataronis, Jim DiLavore, Harvey Issenberg, Greg Johnson, Robert Kendrik, Harry Ketler, Bill Paquin, Art Pringle, and James Sarcione. You may remember John Monfet, Donald Clark, and Allan Gebo — they were working as draftsmen. Also there were the electricians, Gerald Valcourt and Ed Barr. Taking care of the office work were Gail Alakel, Anna Borgesi, Alice Payne, Sheila Cavanaugh, Shirley Champey, Sally Clifford, Patricia Dorr, Janet Elliot, Carol White, Elaine Felides, and Josephine Lastrina.

Betty: I met some of our former classmates yesterday while I was shopping. Marilyn Cubelli, whose only ambition was to be rich, is now living in a one-room apartment in the city. Dale Bottomley, our class most bashful, is now a popular celebrity. Connie DeLucia is the secretary to a young handsome single executive. I guess she fulfilled her ambition! Martie Dietrich's ambition was to fulfill her Rainbow Promise. When I met her yesterday, she said that she had fulfilled it. Of course, we'll just have to take her word for it! Phyllis Duncan and Carolyn Wood are directing the Christian Education at a local church. Kal Lorentz, doing diplomatic work, is trying to maintain the friendship between the nations. Sandra Nolet has entered the real estate business. He slogan — "To let with Nolet."

Jim: I forgot to mention that while I was on the street yesterday, I met Bill Johnson, who was interviewing people. I had the distinct honor of meeting that noted college professor, Jack Mahoney. One of the others interviewed was Jim Mambro, who is still driving that red Ford convertible. I also met the college students, Jane Kenyon, Ray Nazarian, Henry Gingras, Bob Oldfield, and John Cooke. Also there was the successful horse owner and trainer. Bill Partlow. Interviewed later were the accountants, Barbara Carr and George Bistany.

Betty: Working at Saks 5th Avenue are the secretaries, Lee Clarke, June Darlington, Marion Donovan, Tomie Flanagan, Carol Gagnon, Loretta Gosselin, Roberta Hewett, Pat Kelley, Emily Lombardi, Bernice Kusnierski, Dot LaVoie, Marilyn Mikula, Carol Pickles, Helen Saab, Nan Smerdon, and Val McLin.

Jim: While I was listening to the interviews, I noticed some familiar faces — Gloria Beernaert, Allen Prunier, John Rizkallah, James Stundze, and Jack Murphy. I couldn't help noticing Sebastian Catalano, who was playing football for the New York Midgets. In a cloud of dust I noticed Ray Wilson wisk by, just missing some heavy construction equipment operated by Jack Hammond. Nearby was the office of the Stackelin Fishing Tour Company.

Betty: The final program of the convention, which will be conducted by the medical department of the New York General Hospital, includes Barbara Bennett, Arline Bohne, Arlene Carro, Barbara Charbonneau, Ruth Collins, Dot Cox, Jackie DeSantis, Barbara Dill, Joan Enus, Shirley Marshman, Sandra Newsum, Sue Stainsby, Phyllis Szelest, Shirley Trussell, and Adeline DiZazzo.

Jim: Well, before I say good-bye, I must tell you about Judy Murphy, who I met this morning. Her consumption of ice cream was so great that she decided to invest in an ice cream factory. She is now the proud owner of Murphy Melon Molds, whose slogan is "Murphy Melon Molds make marvelous munching." For a change of pace, Judy Stevens and Chris Beaulieu will show the pictures from their trip around the world. And that's the convention.
